Message from the Chair

We are pleased to present an updated service plan for Partnerships British Columbia Inc. (Partnerships BC) for the period April 1, 2005 to March 31, 2008. The plan published in February 2005 has been updated to reflect the direction of the new government, as well as any material changes in Partnerships BC's direction or plans.

After our second full year of operation, the company is achieving tangible results and is emerging as a leader in Canada for public private partnerships. In 2004/05, we successfully negotiated and signed contracts for four public private partnership projects; these projects, with a combined capital value of approximately $500 million, are now under construction. We are particularly pleased that the first of these projects to reach financial close, the Sierra Yoyo Desan Resource Road, was awarded the 2004 National Gold Medal for Innovation and Excellence by the Canadian Council on Public Private Partnerships. As of September 2005, two additional projects, the William R. Bennett Bridge Project, and the Sea to Sky Highway Improvement Project, with a combined capital value of approximately $740 million, have also reached financial close. Partnerships BC has made a commitment to disclose the value for money that has been achieved in its public private partnerships agreements, and is meeting this commitment by releasing Value for Money Disclosure Reports on all major projects once they have reached financial close.

Partnerships BC is currently engaged in a range of high-priority projects that will provide much needed infrastructure for communities and regional economies in British Columbia. These include building new roads and bridges in the Kootenay, Okanagan, Peace River and Lower Mainland regions, and the development of health services infrastructure. Several projects are in the competition phase and many more are in earlier stages of the development process. In addition, we have been retained by the Yukon Territorial Government and by Partnerships Quebec to advise on public private partnerships.

In 2004/05 Partnerships BC refined its business model with a view to better achieving corporate objectives. The company was reorganized to focus on creating new partnership opportunities, the development of a public private partnership centre of expertise, and the development and maintenance of high standards of client service and public disclosure. This shift has been supported by the recruitment of an experienced professional core, and the implementation of management information, risk management and accounting systems to meet governance and financial accountability requirements.

In 2005/06, Partnerships BC will build upon this foundation, placing a high priority upon finalizing contracts for the projects that are currently in the market, developing new projects that offer opportunities to strengthen and improve public infrastructure, and realizing the benefits of the centre of expertise. The Partnerships BC business plan is focused upon the following core objectives:

- the timely delivery of more capital projects;
- increasing competition and innovation in procuring major capital assets;

- transferring appropriate risks to the private sector;
- achieving value for money for taxpayers;
- maintaining fair, open and transparent procurement processes;
- expanding the use of performance standards in government and serving the public interest by maintaining these standards on an ongoing basis; and
- attracting international expertise and capital to B.C.

These initiatives will be led by our diverse and experienced Board of Directors, who will be working with a skilled team of employees. Partnerships BC will continue to strive to advance its projects, develop new ones and realize the benefits of what we believe is an exciting approach to building a stronger B.C. economy and providing more effective services to the people of B.C.

Partnerships BC's 2005/06 – 2007/08 Service Plan was prepared under the direction of the Board of Directors in accordance with the Budget Transparency and Accountability Act. The Board will hold management accountable for the contents of the plan, including the selection of performance measures and targets, and for ensuring that Partnerships BC achieves its specific objectives identified in the plan. The plan is consistent with the Government's strategic priorities and overall service plan. All significant assumptions, policy decisions, and identified risks as of September 2005 have been considered in preparing the plan.

Sincerely,

Introduction

Public private partnerships are a procurement alternative within the Provincial government's strategy for delivering capital assets. They can provide an opportunity to improve and modernize public services infrastructure while delivering better value for money than alternative procurement methods.

The Province of British Columbia's Capital Asset Management Framework encourages public sector agencies to consider all potential ways to meet their service delivery goals, and to choose the method that meets those goals most effectively. Along with traditional methods, agencies are required to consider creative approaches such as leveraging assets, making better use of existing facilities, seeking more efficient ways of delivering public services, and pursuing options such as public private partnerships.

Public private partnerships are contractual arrangements between government agencies and private partners, combining the best of both partners' experience and expertise, and allocating project risks to the partner best able to manage them. Such contracts require clear, legal definitions of each party's responsibilities, typically over both the construction and operations phases of the project.

The overriding objective is value for money. Research has shown that public private partnerships can deliver improved products at optimal lifecycle costs and can benefit all parties, including taxpayers. The private sector benefits from new business opportunities in a growing market. The Provincial government achieves more effective procurement, service enhancements and innovation, cost savings and risk transfer, while retaining responsibility for public service delivery and the public interest on an ongoing basis.

Organizational Overview

Partnerships BC was created in May 2002 to support the Provincial government's strategic plan to deliver public services effectively and affordably. The company works to "pursue public private partnerships that will improve customer services, maximize private sector investment and minimize costs to taxpayers."<sup>1</sup>

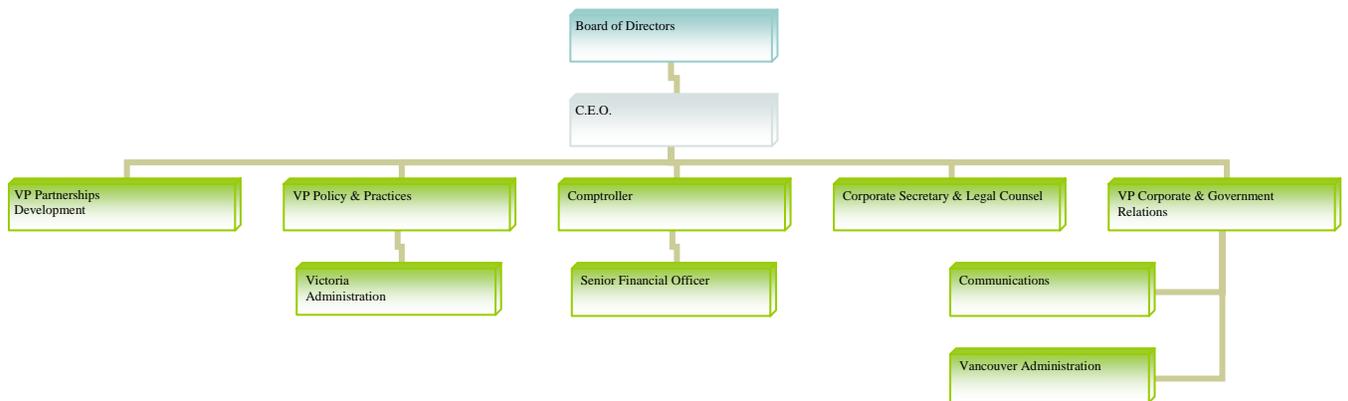

Partnerships BC delivers its services through a client relationship with government ministries and agencies. Partnerships BC works with these clients to identify, assess and procure public private partnerships that assist the agency in meeting its public interest and service objectives. PBC delivers these services through its own expertise and by working closely with external consultants, as well as enhancing relationships between the public and private sectors.

Partnerships BC currently employs 31 staff in two offices located in Vancouver and Victoria. Partnerships BC is now organized into three functional areas -- partnerships development; corporate and government relations; and policy and best practices; and two administrative functions – comptroller and corporate secretary and legal counsel.

Corporate Overview

Partnerships BC is a company owned by the Province of British Columbia (the Province) and governed by a Board of Directors reporting to its shareholder, the Province represented by the Minister of Finance. The company was incorporated under the British Columbia Company Act, legislation that is continued under the new British Columbia Business Corporations Act. The company's core business is to:

- provide expert services to the Provincial government and its agencies in the procurement of major public projects, ranging from advice to business transaction and procurement management, to overall project management;
- identify new opportunities to enhance the effectiveness of major capital asset procurement through public private partnerships;
- foster a business and policy environment for successful public private partnerships by offering a centralized source of knowledge, understanding, expertise and practical experience in public private partnerships; and
- manage an efficient and leading edge organization that meets or exceeds performance expectations.

The company's primary clients are public sector agencies, including ministries, crown corporations, health authorities, advanced education institutions, plus other governments including local government. To serve these clients effectively, Partnerships BC is also working to build strong relationships with private sector partners such as businesses, investors, the financial services sector and providers of construction, engineering and facilities management services.

The company's organization, staffing and governance reflect and support this bringing together of public and private sector interests to best serve public needs. For example, Partnerships BC project directors and consultants have a mix of skills and expertise from both sectors and the company has offices in both Vancouver and Victoria to serve both sectors effectively.

Partnerships British Columbia reports through its Board of Directors to the Provincial Government represented by the Minister of Finance. The Board of Directors was appointed July 15, 2003 with Directors drawn from the public and private sectors. The board was appointed to enable the company to further its goals of providing public infrastructure and services in an effective and affordable way. The Board has two key functions, to provide governance and oversight for the company and to review potential partnership opportunities.

Board Committees

The Board of Directors is supported by two subcommittees:

The Audit and Risk Management Committee reviews, recommends and, in some cases, approves financial statements and other financial information. This includes audited financial statements, quarterly financial statements, the annual report and any quarterly reports, the annual service plan, annual business plan and operating and capital budgets and any budget presentations to government. The committee also reviews the company's risk management, internal controls and information systems.

The Human Resources and Governance Committee assists the Board with human resource issues, compensation matters and the establishment of a plan of continuity and development of senior management. The committee also provides a focus on corporate governance to enhance the performance of the company.

Planning Context

A number of factors will affect Partnerships BC's ability to do business in the coming years, presenting both risks and opportunities. As described below, the company has developed strategies for managing risks while pursuing opportunities.

As part of its internal risk management process, in 2004/05 Partnerships BC contracted with the Office of the Comptroller General (OCG) to facilitate an internal Enterprise Wide Risk Management (EWRM) assessment, focusing on general corporate risks Partnerships BC is facing. Partnerships BC is committed to building upon this initial work to further refine the risk assessment and the strategies developed to mitigate and manage risks. A similar process will be conducted on an annual basis.

Key risks, as identified through Partnerships BC's ongoing approach to risk management, are as follows:

Scope of business, focus and client base

Partnerships BC was created as part of the Provincial government's strategic plan to deliver public services more efficiently. As such, it has unique opportunities to work with public agencies and the private sector to develop creative solutions to infrastructure challenges and support a vibrant provincial economy. Partnerships BC also plays an influential role by ensuring that the Province has the information and materials it needs to make sound decisions regarding potential public private partnerships arrangements, helping to ensure they are viable from an economic, social and public interest perspective.

Partnerships BC's ability to execute is dependent upon the scope and nature of its engagements with client agencies. This underlines the need for Partnerships BC to work closely with the Province to ensure that partnership arrangements are consistent with the Provincial government's strategic priorities.

Partnerships BC's business model is focused primarily on pursuing and implementing public private partnerships for the Province. Therefore, its client market (provincial agencies) and its service offering (public private partnership focus) are relatively narrow, and this focuses business development opportunities.

Actions to manage risk and optimize opportunities related to business scope include:

- working to expand its potential client market to include other levels of government and other jurisdictions;
- focusing on providing quality outcomes to existing clients to increase confidence and encourage future engagements;
- consulting regularly with government agencies to understand their needs and identify project opportunities; and
- applying rigorous business case analysis to ensure that qualitative factors such as a project's social, environmental and public interest impacts are identified and addressed along with financial impacts and service outcomes.

Public private partnership market and capacity

The public private partnership market in Canada and internationally is in the early stages of development.

As a result, capacity in B.C. is growing and competes with other jurisdictions. In addition, strong growth in construction activity in B.C., nationally and internationally, means Partnerships BC must continue to work to attract private companies to the market.

Partnerships BC will develop relationships with stakeholders and business partners and will standardize practices to support market development. The company will work to understand the international market and broaden the Canadian market through a variety of research and outreach activities.

However, capacity growth in B.C. will be in direct competition with other jurisdictions and with other business opportunities firms may have within the province. External factors will therefore play a significant part in Partnerships BC's success and the company may face challenges related to:

- growth of public private partnership markets in competing jurisdictions;
- general private sector interest in public private partnerships worldwide;
- development of private sector public private partnership capacity within B.C.;
- capacity of the construction sector within B.C.; and
- B.C. population growth and demographic shifts.

To meet these challenges, Partnerships BC will:

- continue to develop relationships with other public private partnership stakeholders and business partners. This will ensure the continuous transfer of knowledge related to best practices. It will also support the development of a vibrant B.C. public private partnership community, providing resources that will help offset capacity-related risks;
- continue holding discussions with other provincial governments to broaden the Canadian public private partnership market and enhance the expansion of best practices;
- continue to engage in dialogue with, and monitor the activities of, public private partnership organizations and stakeholders around the world. For example, jurisdictions such as the United Kingdom and Australia have mature public private partnership markets and Partnerships BC is learning from their experiences;
- encourage business-partnering opportunities within and outside B.C. through education and awareness;

- conduct research and market sounding in advance of project implementation as a key step in business case analysis to ensure the presence of a viable market; and
- ease the way for private sector partners to do business in B.C. by, for example, providing certainty and consistency in procurement processes and working to reduce private sector bid costs.

Reputation risk

Reputation is compromised when an organisation's performance, ethics or experience with stakeholders suffers. The ability of Partnerships BC to provide quality service and foster market growth is directly tied to the reputation of the company and the demonstrable success of its projects. A strong reputation will attract more clients, improve relationships and generally assist with the growth of the market in B.C. and Canada. Corporate identity (brand) is a function of the success of the company's relationships with stakeholders including the shareholder, the Province, client ministries and agencies, other levels of government, industry, the public and the media. Relationships with these various stakeholder groups must be nurtured if Partnerships BC's corporate identity is to remain strong and worthy of stakeholder confidence.

Reputation is a difficult risk to manage given its intangible nature, but reputation risk management is an important part of effective corporate governance.

Partnerships BC employs the following risk mitigation strategies to address reputation risk:

- Partnerships BC is functionally organized to focus upon the use of Best Practices in all Partnerships BC activities to help ensure quality of service and successful projects;
- Partnerships BC places a high priority upon disclosure and transparency;
- Partnerships BC corporate strategy is aligned with stakeholder expectations;
- Partnerships BC regularly seeks feedback from all market participants and clients and ensures that concerns and criticisms of its operations are addressed; and,
- Partnerships BC will continue to ensure that its Board and staff operate at the highest levels of integrity.

Internal experience and capacity

Partnerships BC is continually building the experience and skill sets it needs to be a leader in providing public private partnership products and services. At the same time, Partnerships BC faces the challenge of balancing demand for its services with its corporate capacity to ensure successful performance at both the project and organizational levels. To meet these challenges, the company has developed an approach to human resources that:

- ensures Partnerships BC's professionals have the right mix of skills and expertise for the expected project flow;
- emphasizes and facilitates continuous learning and improvement and includes the development of a corporate knowledge management system that makes best practices readily available to all staff; and,
- optimizes staff retention and works to minimize key person turnover.

Key Strategic Issues

In 2004/05 Partnerships BC completed its first full year of operations with a new Board of Directors and CEO. Partnerships BC continued to refine its business model and its goals, strategies and performance measures as the practical reality of direct experience on projects began to influence the company and its approach.

2004/05 was Partnerships BC's first year where tangible successes were achieved. Financial close was reached on four major projects including the Sierra Yoyo Desan Road, the Vancouver General Hospital Academic Ambulatory Care facility, the Abbotsford Regional Hospital and Cancer Centre, and the Britannia Mine Water Purification project. In the first quarter of 2005/06, financial close was reached on the Okanagan Lake Bridge project and the Sea-to-Sky Highway Improvement Project.

Partnerships BC is successfully developing the public private partnership capacity in B.C. and provides advice and support to a number of other jurisdictions including the Yukon Territory, Alberta, Ontario, Quebec and Taiwan.

To further augment its capabilities and to respond to business needs, Partnerships BC has restructured its operations to create three strategic service units to support the company's project focus: partnerships development; policy and practices, and corporate and government relations. The financial administration unit was retained. These business units, and their mandates, are described in the diagram below.

Functional Accountabilities

Project Teams: Project Directors, Project and Communications Consultants

A performance-based human resource strategy has been developed and implemented, such that all employee individual performance plans are tied directly to corporate performance. In addition, corporate performance is benchmarked against similar professional services firms in the private sector.

Partnerships BC has implemented corporate and individual performance goals that support the objectives of each of the three service areas. In addition to their responsibilities for specific projects, employees, as part of their performance evaluations are responsible for assisting with partnership development, corporate and government relations and the development and retention of best practices.

Company officials will continue to participate in seminars, public speaking engagements and conferences. Partnerships BC has updated its web site including new information on current and completed projects, Value for Money Disclosure Reports and best practices. Partnerships BC also continues to expand its business directory, further supporting the growth of public private partnership awareness and capacity.

The Partnerships BC Board of Directors has also identified, within the context of these goals, a number of strategic issues for the company to focus on in 2005/06 to ensure the six corporate goals are properly met. These strategic issues include:

- enhancing the Partnerships BC business model to maximize value-added for clients;

- implementing a business development strategy to meet the company's goals for new engagements;
- maintaining an effective focus in Partnerships BC's communications strategy;
- realizing the benefits of the centre of expertise; and
- further developing a long term relationship with the Provincial Government.

These strategic issues identified by the Board were supplemented by issues identified by the marketplace. Expectations of Partnerships BC by the market include meeting competition milestones, maintaining a strong flow of projects, expansion into new sectors, and the continued and improved provision of expertise and standardization to help reduce transaction and bid costs.

Goals

Building on the progress made in 2004/05 and reflecting the evolving vision of the company and its Board of Directors, the company now has six goals:

- to pursue, structure and implement public private partnerships;
- to satisfy clients;
- to become commercially viable;
- to serve the public interest and ensure competitive, fair and transparent processes;
- to be widely recognized as a centre of excellence for innovation, leadership and expertise in public private partnerships; and
- to build and retain the Partnerships BC team.

Partnerships BC's Board has directed the company to ensure that emphasis is given to the primary goal of pursuing, structuring and implementing public private partnership projects. This direction is consistent with the intent of the shareholder when the company was originally created.

These goals are described below, along with the company's strategies for achieving them. Performance measures and targets for each goal are listed in the chart on page 24. Measurement of performance against these benchmarks for 2004/05 has been reported in the 2004/05 annual report and is reviewed in this document.

Performance measures are both qualitative (e.g. those related to probity and fairness) and quantitative (e.g. standard measures of commercial viability). This balance reflects the company's commitments to meeting the objectives of its Financial Plan together with meeting broader public interest objectives.

Measures and targets will be refined and improved upon as goals are met or exceeded. Further improvements will be made in the years ahead as Partnerships BC becomes a more mature organization.

Partnerships BC made minor clarifications to goals, strategies and measures after the publication of last year's service plan. The changes are detailed in Partnerships BC's 2004/05 annual report and are reflected in this service plan update. See Appendix 1 for details. In addition, Partnerships BC has made adjustments to strategies and performance measures in the first quarter of 2005/06 and these changes are noted below.

Objectives, Strategies and Performance Measures

Goal 1 – To Pursue, Structure and Implement Public Private Partnerships

Partnerships BC's primary mandate is to enable and facilitate public private partnerships that benefit British Columbians, both economically and in terms of protecting the public interest. Partnerships BC's measures of its ability to structure and implement public private partnerships are meeting project milestones and the number and type of new projects initiated. The following strategies have been developed accordingly.

Objectives

- meet milestones in existing client engagements
- develop new business and enter into new engagements (i.e. contracts with clients)
- develop new public private partnership structures in strategic, target sectors

Performance Measures

- project milestones achieved
- pilot engagements in key sectors
- engagements with clients other than the Province of British Columbia

Goal 2 – To Satisfy Clients

Partnerships BC is committed to ensuring that public sector clients are provided with the highest standard of service available, and that they are satisfied with the quality of services. To ensure that this is happening, the company will employ the following strategies.

Objectives

- meet or exceed client expectations

Strategies

- formalize methods for obtaining and measuring client input. This includes identifying what clients value most from Partnerships BC and ensuring that client feedback translates into service improvements that exceed expectations
- develop mechanisms to turn client input into strategies for service improvement

Performance Measures

- client survey results indicate Partnerships BC performance meets or exceeds client expectations

Goal 3 – To Become Commercially Viable

Partnerships BC is committed to ensuring it is a commercially viable organization by 2005/06 fiscal year, with the ability to maintain viability on an ongoing basis. Commercial viability requires that revenues meet or exceed expenses, whether or not the Government Services Agreement with the Province is continued.

The current Government Services Agreement extends to March 31, 2008, and may or may not be continued, and which can be amended/terminated with six months notice. Under the current Agreement, Partnerships BC is engaged to:

- help agencies identify and assess public private partnership opportunities;
- develop provincial public private partnership policy;
- develop best practices for public private partnerships and alternative procurement;
- explore opportunities in other jurisdictions to expand the application of best practices across Canada; and,
- provide other advisory and consulting services directly to the Province and/or clients on an ongoing basis whose costs are not attributable to a specific project.

Objectives

- sustainable commercial viability by 2005/06
- implement multi-year Government Services Contract

Strategies

- ensure that engagement agreements require the payment of fees commensurate with the cost of services provided
- ensure that Partnerships BC's resources and cost structure are appropriate for the expected workload
- prudently manage expenses and internal costs
- build an equity base as a contingency for business fluctuations
- structure contracts with milestone payments to develop a stable cash flow

Performance Measures

- meet Financial Plan targets
- equity exceeds six months operating expenses

Goal 4 – To Serve the Public Interest and Ensure Competitive, Fair and Transparent Processes

Partnerships BC shares with its public sector clients a commitment to managing its projects such that the public interest is served. The company is committed to ensuring that its operations and projects are delivered in the most transparent manner possible, demonstrating fairness, integrity and value for money – while protecting confidential information and commercial interests.

Given that public private partnerships often involve large, high profile, complex projects, it is essential that the public interest is not only served, but seen to be served. All stakeholders must have a degree of comfort with the process involved in bringing a public private partnership project to fruition. Fairness, integrity and value for money must be clearly demonstrated – while protecting confidential information and commercial interests.

This is not a simple goal, given the commercial complexity that often accompanies a public private partnership project. However, Partnerships BC is committed to ensuring that its operations and projects are delivered in the most transparent manner possible.

Strategies to achieve this goal have been revised as reflected in Partnerships BC's 2004/05 annual report, for the purpose of clarity, and to explicitly include the publication of Value for Money and Fairness reports as strategies.

Objectives

- demonstrate value for money in all projects
- ensure all processes are transparent, fair and competitive

Strategies

- develop business plans that provide a solid foundation for decision making, based on assessment of a full range of quantitative and qualitative factors
- ensure that business plans incorporate rigorous financial analysis, risk assessment and management tools to ensure that project risks are properly identified and appropriately allocated and managed
- publish a Value for Money Report and, as appropriate and requested by the client, a Report of the Fairness Auditor following the financial closing of each project, and disclose all documentation not deemed to be commercially sensitive.

Performance Measures

- publish Value for Money Disclosure Report after financial close has been reached
- obtain fairness and probity opinions on projects as appropriate and requested by the client, for example, where the size, scope or nature of the project

warrants the use of fairness reviews (This performance measure has been revised in the first quarter of 2005/06 in recognition that not all projects warrant the use of fairness reviews.)

Goal 5 – To Be Widely Recognized as a Centre of Excellence for Innovation, Leadership and Expertise in Public Private Partnerships

One of Partnerships BC's broad objectives is to create a world class centre of excellence and expertise for public private partnerships in B.C. The company endeavours to ensure that best practices are identified and transferred from one project to the next, and that British Columbia becomes recognized as an attractive market for public private partnerships.

Strategies have been revised as reflected in Partnerships BC's 2004/05 annual report, for the purposes of clarity, and to recognize the importance of knowledge management as an emerging strategy.

Objectives

- implement a Partnerships BC best practices strategy
- demonstrate benefits of a centre of excellence and expertise

Strategies

- implement a knowledge management system to capture and incorporate best practices
- implement a stakeholder outreach program to increase visibility and appreciation of Partnerships BC in the broader international market
- attract new market participants to the British Columbia market, thereby creating more scope for competition and innovation,
- undertake business development for Partnerships BC's services beyond core provincial government client agencies
- participate within and outside British Columbia at conferences and workshops
- continually assess and appraise the quality of services provided by Partnerships BC with clients, external stakeholders such as public private partnership service providers (e.g. advisors), project participants and private partners

Performance Measures

- annual examples of best practices established, acknowledged and adopted within the Provincial Government and by other governments
- revenue generation from clients outside the provincial government
- new market participants in B.C.

Goal 6 - Build and Retain the Partnerships British Columbia Team

In the February 2005 service plan, Partnerships BC introduced a new goal to help ensure it also focuses on its most important resource – its people. The ability of Partnerships BC to meet its goals depends on its ability to attract and retain high quality staff.

Partnerships BC occupies a specialized service niche in that its clients are entirely public sector agencies. At the same time, delivery of successful projects also requires in-depth knowledge of the private sector - knowledge and understanding of the particular needs of each sector is critical. Conversely, the kind of experience and expertise required for complex procurement, private finance initiatives and contract negotiations is highly valued by both sectors. Partnerships BC needs to ensure that its culture and compensation structure remain competitive in order to retain and attract the best team.

Objectives

- improve professional competencies and attract and retain high quality people

Strategies

- develop and implement an updated human resources strategy
- implement a targeted training program for staff

Performance Measures

- measures will be set based on issues identified through client and employee feedback
- employee satisfaction

Linkages to Government Strategic Priorities

The Government outlined five goals in the February 2005 Throne Speech, focusing on education and literacy, health and physical fitness, support for persons with disabilities, special needs, children at risk and seniors, sustainable environmental management, and job creation, detailed as follows:

Public private partnerships provide a foundation for all of these goals by delivering major capital projects that meet public needs at minimum lifecycle cost and with an optimum sharing of risks between the public and private sectors.

Goal 1: To make B.C. the best educated, most literate jurisdiction on the continent

Goal 2: To lead the way in North America in healthy living and physical fitness

Goal 3: To build the best system of support in Canada for persons with disabilities, special needs, children at risk and seniors

Goal 4: To lead the world in sustainable environmental management, with the best air and water quality, and the best fisheries management, bar none.

Goal 5: To create more jobs per capita than anywhere else in Canada.

Partnerships BC supports goals 1-4 by providing necessary infrastructure to B.C. as quickly and efficiently as possible. Meeting provincial infrastructure needs in general is essential to a strong provincial economy. For example, an up-to-date and well maintained transportation system helps keep goods, services and people moving efficiently and safely. Road improvements, such as the Sierra Yoyo Desan Road project also support key initiatives such as the Province's Oil and Gas Development Strategy, which is helping to further expand the northern economy.

Partnerships BC projects directly support goal 5 by supporting economic growth in B.C. and encouraging and facilitating private sector involvement in the delivery of critical public sector infrastructure and services. In addition, Partnerships BC projects support the creation of direct and indirect employment, attracting foreign capital and investment, and transferring appropriate risk to the private sector.

Key Forecast Assumptions

In preparing its financial statements, Partnerships BC has based its calculations on the following assumptions:

- revenue and expenditures are estimates based on a forecast of project activity using the best available information available to Partnerships BC;
- project expenditures will fluctuate significantly from year to year; and
- the majority of expenditures will be reimbursable from third parties during the fiscal year in which they occur and will not materially affect the bottom line.

Risks and Sensitivities

Risks, in general, have been discussed within the planning context of this document; however, risks and sensitivities pertaining specifically to Partnerships BC's financial outlook are as follows:

- interest rates – Partnerships BC does not forecast significant interest income and therefore the fluctuation of interest rates is not expected to have a significant impact on earnings. However, it may affect the ability of third parties to cover costs if they are primarily using debt financing;
- performance of the economy – the overall performance of the British Columbian, Canadian and North American economies may have some impact on demand for construction and debt; and,
- inflation – inflation in some sectors may or may not impact Partnerships BC's work flow and project revenue.

Appendix 2 - Other Operating Segments

Partnerships BC incorporated the Abbotsford Hospital and Cancer Centre Inc. as a subsidiary corporation in 2003/04. Given the number of public sector agencies involved in the Abbotsford Regional Hospital and Cancer Centre project, it was determined that it would be beneficial to create a single public sector entity to contract with the private sector.

Abbotsford Hospital and Cancer Centre Inc. concluded the competitive selection process for the project on December 7, 2004, when it reached financial close on a project agreement with private partner Access Health Abbotsford. Partnerships BC will continue to retain responsibility for the project and hold the shares of the company until the new facility is built and commissioned. At that point, the shares will be transferred to the Fraser Health Authority and Provincial Health Services Authority for the 30 year operating phase of the project.

Construction started in December 2004, and the facility is expected to be open and operational in 2008. Partnerships BC may in future create subsidiary corporations in its normal course of business as part of structuring optimal arrangements between public sector clients and private investors.
